Whiskerenos, Smoothies Tangle Again Saturday Night

Arch Rivals Test Power In Tug of War, Ball Game

Whiskerenos meet Smoothies on the field of battle again this Saturday, with a rematch tug-of-war contest and a softball game.

The ball game starts at 8 o'clock at the Lakeside Union Grammar School grounds.

The tug of war will start immediately after the ball game. This time the contestants will have more space in which to maneuver and the footing will be more solid than at the Rodeo Grounds, where the rope was stretched past the horse trough.

Though the Whiskerenos have exuded confidence on the outcome of the game, the Smoothies are not conceding anything.

Walt Hartung, Smoothie manager, believes the Whiskerenos are going to be handicapped in running the bases.

"There's a lot of wind resistance to all those whiskers," he says.

"One thing we've got to be on the watch for is the hidden ball trick. They could hide a ball in those mattresses like nobody's business. I wouldn't even be surprised to see a jackrabbit or a quail jump out."

Days of '49 Celebration 1 Week Away

Corn Festival

To advance the candidacy of Miss Louise Bridges as Queen of the 49ers, her "campaign managers" have arranged a hayride and corn fiesta to be held Tuesday, July 29 at the Lakeside Rodeo Grounds.

The evening of fun and entertainment will begin with supper at 5:30. Food will be sold on the grounds until midnight.

Hayrides will leave the Rodeo Grounds at frequent intervals; also from the Standard Station in El Cajon at frequent intervals, starting at 6 o'clock.

All proceeds of the affair will go to the Memorial Building Fund.

Those sponsoring the event say there will be "fun in 49er style for all ages—a free dance—plenty of eats—and best of all, a FULL MOON for the hayride."

NOT A DULL MOMENT IN THREE-DAY PROGRAM

While other celebrations leading up to the main event are being run off this weekend and next Tuesday evening, plans are going ahead for the Days of 49 Celebration in Lakeside August 1, 2 and 3.

James Haptonstall, chairman of the Program Committee, has lined up varied talented performers, insuring continuous entertainment throughout the three-day celebration. Among the events listed are:

Entertainers from El Cajon, courtesy of the El Cajon Chamber of Commerce.

Bicycle races and games Sunday, July 2, by members of the North Park Bicycle Club. Prizes will be awarded winners.

Mountain music by a local veterans orchestra.

SKITS BY TEEN-AGERS

Skits by the Lindo Teen-age Club including a tap dance by Barbara Martin and Laura Wetzel; "A Tall Tale," Harold Shirey; "Baseball Game Story," by Dan Martin and a One-act play, with Charlotte Klippel, Sammie Dunham, Jeanne Lindsay and Ellen Wessel.

According to Judge W. K. Wade of the Kangaroo Court, that body will remain in continuous session to see that justice is dealt out fairly to Whiskereno and Smoothie alike, (not overlooking the ladies.)

RUNNING DEBATE

A running debate will be held between Whiskerenos and Smoothies with points made by the impromptu speakers tallied by judges as the debate progresses on the question "Resolved, It Is a Violation of an Individual's Rights Under the Constitution to Force Him to Grow Whiskers."

Indians from the Barona Indian Reservation, in war paint and feathers, will "hold-up" the stage-coach Friday and Saturday at the Rodeo Grounds.

Other activities outlined by Stanley Conant, general chairman, are:

A Camp Fire Rally will be held in which the entire family may take part. There will be prizes awarded.

Three 4-round boxing contests will be held each night.

A first aid station, manned by a capable staff.

A nursery department will be conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary VFW. There will be play cribs and constant care over the children so that their parents may come and take part in the 49er activities.

Lakeside's Days of 49 will get additional publicity over the radio this week as Seymour Francis of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce broadcasts his program "Report to the County."

Over Station KYOR at 12:45 Friday he will talk for 10 minutes about Lakeside and its celebration.

Amateur Rodeo

An Amateur Rodeo will be held at the Rodeo Grounds in Lakeside beginning at 2 p.m., Sunday, July 27. It is another of a series of events being held to raise money for the Memorial Building to be built here. All proceeds will be turned over to the Memorial Committee. The committee in turn will credit the contest standing of Shirley Lucas for Queen, 100 votes on the dollar.

"PEPPER" AND "BURR" TO RACE AGAIN

A featured event at the Amateur Rodeo this Sunday will be a horse race between Walter Hartung and Elmer H. Macy.

In a similar race two years ago, Mr. Macy, riding "Burr" outdistanced Walt on his mount "Pepper."

The winning purse in this race will be donated to the War Memorial Fund and also be counted as votes for Miss Lucas in the Queen contest.

Mr. Macy is confident that his horse is still the best animal. "I know Walt is a good man and he has a good horse, but I know I can win," he said yesterday.

Walt has a different opinion. "My horse has been out on pasture for several weeks. He is fresh as a daisy and full of fight. We'll put on the heat and win this time. I hope Elmer and his nag can stand the strain."

Among the other listed events in the Rodeo will be bareback riding, bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, wild cow milking, girls' ribbon roping, calf roping and races of all kinds.

There will be a dance after the show.

LANGLOIS on the air

For the past six months I have been listening to people tell me "Yes, we are going to build when prices go down," or they are "going to buy a place when they get down to what they are worth."

Well, let's get down to facts. What's going to make things go down?"

Ask yourself, "Can I take a cut in salary?" or are you willing to take less for what you sell? No, of course not. The other guy is the one who must stand this, not I!

So, let's go higher. Now, Lewis has concluded the best contract his coal miners ever got, in spite of anti-labor legislation. This will raise coal about 70 cents per ton, and steel about $5 per ton—and what can you manufacture without steel?

So cars are not on the immediate list for price cuts.

So far, so good. Now the locomotive engineers are going out. Do you think they won't get the raise they want? So when the cost of freight goes up, who pays this—the railroads or you? It will be you, brother, who will absorb this, not the railway companies or the manufacturers. That bunch howl, but they pass it to you.

This being the case, of course you will take a cut in your income by telling your boss you'll work for half what you are now getting. I'd like a picture of you doing that.

No, things are not coming down. So you on buy like you did ten years ago, and still stay at your present wage or income scale. Just forget it and go ahead like you always did. You'll make out, maybe.

We will now take labor. Forty years or more ago I can remember getting 10 cents an hour for ten hours a day, and believe me, brother, it was not WPA.

I would not like to be young again and go back to it. Labor has made gains right through the years and even in depression times never slid back to the times. I can remember when we put ten hours in the field, getting up and getting the chores done did not count in the ten hours. I'd hate to see my boys take it, or anyone else's sons.

I've worked for chiseling contractors who blew the whistle ten minutes before 7 a.m., 10 minutes after 12 p.m., 10 minutes after quitting time, and made 30 to 45 minutes time on every man in a ten-hour day. The result of these labor abuses was unions. Then as they got the whip hand, some of them figured the world owed them a living and they put in 8 hours on the job, mostly discussing fishing, getting a drink, looking at watch, or watching to see if foreman was looking, and some of the foremen were worse loafers than the help.

But don't get the idea that there are no good men left. There are plenty who'll do you a good honest day's work, and earn every cent you pay them.

I know what I'm talking about. I just got through with a couple places.

Now as for property prices in relation to San Diego county. To begin with, 90% of Europe wants to come to the U.S.A.; 80% of the U.S.A. wants to come to California and most of California wants to live in Southern California—so add it up. What makes property values? Demand does, regardless of whether the property earns it (that is, out here.) Now, how much of San Diego County have you got with the necessary water? Add it up, and it's a very small part of San Diego County, and with the people who will constantly pour out here, just where do they get the idea that prices are going down?

Get me right, though. Some of these face-lifted chicken coops that sold for the price of a good house are not going to move quite so fast, but they will go.

So, if you've got a good piece of dirt, especially in Lakeside, don't peddle it off and go to Oregon, because you'll be back in two years wondering why you sold your place for half what the new owner is asking. You are in a chosen spot. Stay here. If you have no property get some. It will go up in value.

Last but not least, if you are thinking of building a home, build it. Don't wait, because it may cost you quite a gob more. Besides, if you build now, you enjoy it now, plus the increase in value for the landscaping that only comes with time. DO IT NOW!

See you next week.

New Badges Issued To Nine "Smoothies"

Nine more "Smoothies" stepped up during the past week to buy their Smoothie Button and with it immunity (they hope) from the horse trough set up by the Lakeside Whiskerenos.

Though the possession of a Smoothie button is not a definite guarantee that the Bearded Boys will forgive a smooth face, it fully meets the requirements of the "law," according to E. H. Carender, Memorial Building treasurer. He issued receipts and Smoothie badges ths week to Hart Dunham, Tom LaMadrid, Playmore Club "Pop", John Andrews, C. C. Bogue, E. B. Muse, Sam Maniscalco Charles Brown and James Sanford.

New entrants in the Whiskereno contest are Frank Gander and Carl Stope.

Poultry Producer Visitor In Lakeside

Will Hatch, poultry equipment distributor for Orange and San Diego counties, was a recent visitor in Lakeside.

In 1932 Mr. Hatch went into the chicken business for himself. His ranch is on Highway 55 between Santa Ana and Tustin. He has 1,000 cages.

Mr. Hatch breeds New Hampshires almost exclusively—a strain that reaches its highest egg production during the first 18 months.

Underground Reservoir Solves Well Problem

They said it couldn't be done, but the Anderson Brothers, well drillers of Lakeside, thought differently about it and as a result Matt Donohue of Alpine has plenty of well water to use.

A 37-ft. hole ending in bedrock was not giving sufficient water and Mr. Donohue's problem was either to enlarge the well or abandon it and drill a new one. He was advised by one driller to take the latter course, although there was considerable investment in the existing well.

The Anderson Brothers believed it was practical to enlarge the well and operating through the 32-inch hole succeeded in blasting an underground reservoir 10 x 8 feet in area, holding 3500 gallons of water.

Besides enlarging the seepage area and providing water immediately available for irrigation and household use, the underground cistern keeps the water cool and pure. A constant flow of water insures its freshness also, Mr. Donohue states. He believes similar procedure may be the solution for many ranchers who are experiencing a water shortage this year.
